Dear ENoLL Extended Community,

We are looking for members for the Evaluation Committee who will be reviewing the call for papers for the Living Lab Research track that will be held during OpenLivingLab Days 2018. As an evaluator, you will be responsible for reading between 3 to 5 papers and reviewing them. The 2018 ENoLL Call for Papers makes use of a double-blind peer review, which means that both the reviewer and author identities are concealed from the reviewers, and vice versa, throughout the review process. This is very much appreciated by the researchers as it allows full anonymity. Veli-Pekka Niitamo Prize also known as the Best Paper Award will also be given this year to the best paper presented at the Research Session of the OpenLivingLab Days.

During 2018's edition the featured topics are:

Theoretical and methodological challenges, for example:

- UN sustainability goals in relation to Living Labs (please state which one)
- Sustainable Living Lab processes and sustainable business models
- Responsible research and innovation processes and its relation to Living Labs
- Integrating social, material and technical aspects of Living Lab activities and results
- Transformative research approaches and results of its actions

Actors motivations, needs and expectations, for example:

- User recruitment, engagement and commitment challenges
- Building commitment with stakeholders
- Actors motivation for sustainable actions
- Actors needs in relation to sustainable innovation
- Value co-creation and/or co-destruction of value

Ethical challenges in Living Lab processes and transformative research, e.g.

- Unwitting participation
- Payment and participation
- Voluntariness in participatory processes
- Social innovation
- Privacy and IPR in Living Lab activities

Governance and process related areas, e.g.

- Multi-stakeholder engagement and openness
- Financing Living Labs
- Collaboration models with multiple stakeholders in innovation processes
- Fab Labs and maker spaces for sustainability
- Maker, modifiers and fixers as well as repair cafés

In 2018 three different types of research papers are accepted for submission:

- Research Papers: Full paper
- Research papers: Research-in-progress papers
- Industry / Practitioner / Innovation paper
