Co-creation Orchestration.

Co-creation Orchestration is building an evidence-based model that is helping companies, public sector, academia, and citizens to co-create better health and wellbeing services in the most innovative region in Europe, Helsinki-Uusimaa.

Our aim is to make innovation more open, inclusive, and collaborative.

A Call for Abstracts!

Are you working with multi-stakeholder co-creation ecosystems?
This is an excellent opportunity to get high-level coverage for your work.

We are inviting compact 5 to 6-page articles on e.g. experiences and visions on building and orchestrating multi-stakeholder ecosystems, pros and cons related to co-creation, role of open data in co-creation, and other related topics.

The best abstracts will be presented in a high-level, international European Open Science Policy Platform's event and the articles will be published in Laurea UAS's symposium during spring 2020.

Send your max. 1500 word abstracts to julkaisut@laurea.fi no later than 20.09.2019. The deadline for the articles is during January 2020.
